

Dimitrios Niklis, Assistant Professor

Specialty: Managerial Accounting.

Short CV: Dimitrios Niklis is Assistant Professor, Department of Accounting and Finance, School of Business and Finance, University of Western Macedonia. He has publications in peer-reviewed journals and significant number of other publications (books, special issues, book chapters, etc.). During the years 2017-2019, he was tutor in the postgraduate program of Banking of the Hellenic Open University (EAP, TRA61) and in 2020-21 tutor in the postgraduate program EAP, MBA (Financial Management). From 2019, he teaches in the postgraduate programs (a. Accounting & Auditing and b. Banking - Insurance & Finance) of the University of Western Macedonia.). Moreover, he is visiting professor at the Department of Administration and Economics, Mediterranean Agronomic Institute of Chania (postgraduate level in English, 2017- till today) in the courses Financial Management and Cost Benefit Analysis.

Education: Bachelor in Economics, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki (2004). MSc Mediterranean Agronomic Institute of Chania (2009). PhD Technical University (2015).

Research Interests: Managerial Accounting, Cost Accounting, Accounting, Corporate Finance, Financial Management, Banking, Investment Decision Analysis, Risk Management, Financial Markets, Decision Science, Management, Tourism, Agriculture Economics, Small and Medium Enterprises